

The Autumn Set

Thank you for downloading. Here's what's inside.

You're holding nine illustrations pulled from seven collections in our library. A leather journal from Still Analog. Fresh figs, halved, from Chef's Table. A cinnamon roll from La Pâtisserie. A college scarf from Dreaming Spires. Sunflowers and dried lunaria from Le Fleuriste. Walking boots and a cup of tea from Highlands. And one vine leaf, turning, from Cellar & Vine. Nine pieces, seven collections, one season.

Lay them out together and notice how they agree with each other. The same warmth in the palette, the same light, the same patience. That's not an accident of the season; every piece in The Monnaco Collection is made to sit beside every other piece in the library. It isn't a folder of images. It's one body of work.

How to Use These Assets

These illustrations are intentionally versatile. They work beautifully for brand identity and visual storytelling, website headers and landing pages, social posts and email campaigns, autumn menus and market signage, mood boards, client presentations, and print. If your work has a fall campaign, a harvest table, or a holiday season coming, this set was made for the run-up.

Use them wherever your work needs warmth, texture, and a sense of intention.

The full library now holds more than 2,300 assets across 32 curated collections, with new collections arriving every few weeks. The next one is set in Provence, and it arrives this October. If this set feels right for your brand, there's a whole world waiting.
